What is allDoc?

My company, allDoc, is a healthcare credit service provider that helps employees to manage healthcare bills with similar usability like Klarna. Our startup makes it easy for common people to pay medical bills and return it through EMI. For now we are approaching as a B2B2C model.

What problem are we solving?

In Bangladesh, out-of-pocket healthcare expenses has raised nearly to 80%. There are around 60 million employed population in Bangladesh among which 50% earns an average salary of 26000 Tk. People pay for healthcare services from their regular salary, credit cards or bank loans and health insurance. Due to different regulatory policies, only 30% users get coverage from health insurance companies. Moreover, very few corporate offices provide health insurance or healthcare benefits to their employees. Therefore, we are building allDoc for patients to avail better healthcare services through us as their financial assistance.

Solving healthcare cost burden on patients

What is our progress to date?

We are currently working on our MVP and integration process with two healthtech startups. We have already on boarded an office who are ready to be a part of our pilot phase which we plan to start soon.

How to partner with us?

Our website and social media pages are the ways to partner with us.

What resources can help us grow?

We are currently trying to raise 40 lakhs taka for 12 months runway. This will help us to build our initial team start a pilot phase. Alongside this we are trying to partner with a financial institution to become our financial partner who will disburse the credit amount.
